FOR CHILDREN

Come Look
with Me:
Exploring an Art Museum

A great way to encourage your child's creativity and imagination is to visit an art museum.

The Museum Cove at the Northport Library is pleased to present an exhibit featuring the Nassau County Museum of Art. Located in Roslyn Harbor in the Georgian mansion of Henry Clay Frick, the Museum's ten galleries offer changing exhibits of art by leading American and European artists. The grounds of the Museum include 145 acres of ponds, meadows, sculpture, and formal gardens. Since its privatization in 1989, the Museum has been committed to bringing internationally-acclaimed artists, art education, and other cultural activities to Long Island.

Come Look with Me: Exploring an Art Museum begins January 6 and continues through April. The exhibit will include posters of famous paintings, photographs, sculpture, reproductions from the Nassau Museum's current displays, artists' materials, puzzles, books, and bibliographies.

A visit to an art museum is an occasion for fun, participation, and learning. We hope that our museum collaboration will help encourage a lifetime love of art.

Art Exhibition on Library Website

In September, 2002, the Northport-East Northport Public Library commemorated September 11, 2001 through a community art exhibition entitled Reflection & Remembrance. Artists of all ages participated in the exhibition which took place in the Gallery of the Northport Public Library from September 8-27, 2002.

Now, all of the works in the exhibition may be viewed on the Library's website at www.nenpl.org. First click on the Community Services link and then click on Displays; scroll down the page and click on Reflection & Remembrance. The exhibition is also available on a compact disc which is part of the Library's circulating collection.

EXHIBITS

Northport Gallery: "What a Long, Strange Trip It's Been" by Alan Epstein

Artist Alan Epstein takes the title of his exhibition from the song "Truckin'" by the Grateful Dead. Mr. Epstein, a resident of East Northport, shares paintings and drawings of some of the sites along his "trip" in life.

East Northport Gallery: Photography by Susann Gude

Handcolored photographic art, portraits on canvas, and interactive portraits are among the works exhibited by photographer Susann Gude.

East Northport Display Case: Watercolors & Acrylics by Russ Day

Artist Russ Day turns his artist's eye on a variety of subjects including sailboats, light-houses, airplanes, sports scenes, and flora. In this exhibit he shares some of his smaller works.
